Piping down the valleys wild,
Piping songs of pleasant glee,
On a cloud I saw a child,
And he laughing said to me—

"Pipe a song about a lark!"
So I piped with merry cheer,
"Piper, pipe that song again!"
So I piped: he wept to hear.

"Drop the pipe, thy happy pipe, Sing thy songs of happy cheer!"
So I sang the same again,
While he wept with joy to hear.

"Piper, sit thee down and write
In a book, that all may read!"
So he vanished from my sight;
And I plucked a hollow weed.

And I made a rural pen,
And I stained the water clear,
And I wrote my happy songs,
Every child may joy to hear.
"The Piper" by William Blake.

Two workmen were engaged upon an intricate machine.

I say Bill, said one, it's bloomin'
wonderful what they can make now-days. Dye know they can make movements to the thousandth of an inch?

Blimey, said Bill, awed, how many thousandths are there in an inch?
Oh, I dunno, answered the first, but there must be millions.

A FARMER'S MUSINGS

(By Tim Longbottom)

Black Magic—

The death of an Australian Aborigine, through having a bone pointed at him by one of his enemies, recalled some queer lites carried out in the distant places of the earth.

Pointing a bone at an enemy in the back bush of Australia is simply a native way of calling down a curse, and in Central Africa and Hawaii either a cripple sentence or an upturned hand serves the same purpose.

Once upon a time a considerable amount of mystery surrounded fatal chases, but it is now generally believed that superstitions fright is the cause of death.

One African medical missionary
held this belief and on one occasion, tested out his theory with marked success.

The victim of a witch doctor's wrath was brought to him on a litter to be cured of his illness and under the pretence of examining the grongling man he gave the fellow a stiff jab
on a soft place with a darning needle.

The colored lad gave vent to a wild yell of pain and fled from the scene
in a dreadful hurry.

He was followed by all his relatives who doubtless thought that the white man's medicine was jolly powerful dope.

Mongoose—

An English writer has just published an interesting article wherein he states that mongoose are not immune from snake poisoning, as many others have claimed in the past.

By experimenting on a mongoose in this gentleman proved in the most conclusive fashion that a mongoose is so swift in action a snake never gets a chance to hurt his opponent, which has given the impression that the lean creature can absorb the deadly venom without any ill effects.

As some of our readers are aware,
the mongoose is a native of India and although evidently of the weasel family it is very much larger and more powerful than the variety known on the prairies of the west. They are generally used to clean up snake and rat infested quarters and the writer, employed a pair for getting rid of a destructive horde of rodents.

When the task was completed in a very thorough fashion we tried to give them away, but had no success.

One glance at the useful but mis-terious looking creatures was enough for the would be claimants, and our problem was solved in a very peculiar manner.

The male was killed while trying to go through a narrow pipe and his companion thereafter lost all interest in life until she too, gave up her last breath.

Bartan—

Lack of gold to purchase needed supplies of raw material has caused the Italian government to embark on a very ambitious scale of bartering with other countries. At the time of writing, about 20 ships are on the ways of Italian shipyards and when completed these will be traded out for such things as coal, oil and various kinds of metal.

By making the workers put in long hours at low wages, the vessels will not cost more than the same types produced in the yards of other lands
where better facilities and higher skilled workmen are available.

To make the swap attractive for the other parties, the Italian negotiators offer them higher prices than the prevailing ones of the required commodities, and it must be said that these methods are creating uneasiness
in many quarters.

Hitler's associates are also drumming up business by the ancient custom of bartering, and since Italy does a large amount of trade with central Europe it is quite possible that increase rivalry may soon lead to a weakening of the Rome-Berlin pact.

Precious Words—

"The wisdom of the wise and the experience of ages, may be preserved by quotations."

—D'Alembert.

"So many gods, so many creeds,
So many paths that wind and wind,
While just the art of being kind
Is all the sad world needs."

—W. W. Wilcox.

"To thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night tir-
day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."

—Shakespeare.

"Hast thou a friend? thou hast indeed
A rich and large supply;
Treasure to serve your every need,
Well managed till you die."

—Cowper.

"Never bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three kinds; all they have had, all they have now, and all they expect to have."

—Dickens.

"There is always something to be thankful for."

—Burns.

"Some has meat, and cannot eat,
And some wud eat that want it;
But we has meat and we can eat,
And see the Lord be thankit!"

—Burns.

TOWN IMPROVEMENT

Quietly but steadily the work is being carried on. During the past few weeks about twenty-five fruit trees have been planted in the School grounds. These are mostly apple but there are one or two other varieties. It will be interesting to watch the development of these trees. Another piece of ground which until recent years had been sadly neglected is that sometime called God's acre, or the cemetery. Recently the Town has planted 75 evergreen trees. These will prove a very beautifying addition to the other improvements previously made. Nothing enhances a landscape so much as a tree or group of trees. We congratulate the parties responsible for these two additions to Strathmore's Town Improvement.

Without spoiling the above might we suggest to the special committee that the Fry-Cadbury Window "could do" with a new "dress" for Christmas.

THE REFUGEE

The problem of the refugee, wandering, bereft of home and country is not a new one. Had to relate however following the disasters in China and Central Europe and the turmoil in Palestine, the numbers will be increased by many thousands.

It is not at all probable that Strathmoreites will be called on to give a voice to the Donsation to how best this question should be decided. Neither will it hurt anyone to keep an open mind on the subject.

We have, most of us—been strongly inclined to shut tightly our doors, or draw our skirts a little closer, and say we want "none of these." But would not be benefit by some of these peoples—driven by no fault of their own, from home and country. They come from places that have been the centre of culture and many art and woven fabrics exquisitely fashioned jewellery and embroideries.

that would furnish new and desirable industry for Canada. Assuredly they should be compelled to adopt our laws and conditions, and the smallest sign of disruption should be promptly and effectively dealt with.

The problem is not without an element of danger, but properly controlled and guided does Canada not stand to gain? Witness the South African settlement of 1903.

Rockyford

Mr George Thibout had a very narrow escape on Thursday afternoon last when he was repairing the electric light lines. His belt in some way unfastened by the wires and he fell 20 feet to the ground, it being in summer the ice was not quite so hard. He was taken to Calgary for X-rays and the latest report is that he hopes to be home shortly.

Mr and Mrs G. Thibout had at their visitors last week, his Mother, Sister, Brother and an Uncle from west of Lacombe.

Mr Johnny Hunsmeier went to Calgary last Thursday to take his wife and young son home from the hospital. Both mother and son are doing fine.

Mr and Mrs A. J. Chummet who have just purchased a new Plymouth are trying it out on a trip to Edmonton where they will visit with their daughter Edna who is attending University. Miss Wanda Knapp of the telephone staff went with them to visit her brother Harrison who is also going to University, and Mr Ervell the fourth passenger was glad of the opportunity to go visit his mother.

The Halloween dance sponsored by the Ratepayers of Rockyford on Friday night was a splendid success, there being a very large crowd, the music was good, also the lunch.

A well attended annual food supper was served by the ladies of the United Church in the hall on Wednesday evening, October 26th. Over 200 partook of the wonderful repast. After the tables were cleared away a very interesting picture show was shown and all enjoyed "Heidi" with Shirley Temple. Visitors were present from many of the small towns as well as four car loads from Calgary.

The young girls club met at the home of Miss Olga Podhorski on Tuesday, October 25th, with about 10 present. The business of the night comprised chiefly of reading over the play which they are about to start practicing, and assigning the parts to the different players. A delightful lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Mrs T. M. Henderson had the misfortune of falling down the steps in the Rockyford Hall on Wednesday evening at the Fowl Supper. She hurt her ankle to the extent that she had to spend several days in bed. We are glad to know she is now able to be up again and use her foot slightly.

Hervey

Absent residents on long or short jaunts are Mrs Laycraft.

Miss Violet Hesp left some weeks ago for Toronto where two younger sisters live.

John Armitstead some weeks ago tried to establish a new high record for team and heavy wagon. When the neckyoke broke, he says the thing was a jolly flying machine, but having no wings turned turtle.

Grandpa Barant who underwent a major operation last winter feels the effects yet. We agree with him that it is no joke when a fellow has slipped well down the western slope.

A few relatives and a host of friends met at the home of Nels and Chris Gude to say farewell to the former and to present him with a club bag as a token of remembrance of his many friends left behind. His quiet unassuming manner, made a place to the hearts of all who knew him. While his constant, tolerant and earnest perseverance in the work of his choice was crowned with great success. Surely, a life so ordered that it finds pleasure and contentment in the every day tasks of life and one that stoops not down to questionable pleasures, cannot help but be a stimulus to others. We wish him a safe voyage to Denmark.

Mr Sadler is none too well these days.

Mrs T. L. Chamberlain for a few days, by the Ladies, and dancing was in progress till the wee sma' hours.

A very enjoyable evening was held in school house, Friday, when a whist drive and dance was held in aid of the Junior Red Cross. The highest score for the ladies went to Mrs. P. Hutton of Nightingale, the girls going to Mr Archie McLean, also of Nightingale. M. G. H. Godfrey, fulfilled the duties of M. C. for the evening in a very capable manner. Mr Jack Kittelson won the lucky ticket on the box of chocolates. Refreshments were served

Mr and Mrs Bert Saunders of Kaituma called on Mr P. Justice on Sunday.

Mr and Mrs A. M. Watson spent Sunday visiting in Courich.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH

How far back can you remember—twenty?—thirty?—forty?—fifty years? Even if it is only ten years you can still say: "Things were different then?"

Change flows over the face of everything, sometimes as imperceptibly as a rising tide, sometimes with the swift, remorseless fury of a tidal wave. Many of us have seen the far-reaching transformations wrought by war and economic breakdown.

Change is inevitable; it is a law of life. But in the life of a people it has to be controlled. It needs a balance wheel to steady it to the pace of progress; and it has a balance wheel in the weight of an informed public opinion, made possible by a free press.

Newspapers, put the control of every national or local movement in the hands of the people by submitting all the news to their scrutiny and judgement. The precipitancy of the few is restrained by enlisting the interest of the many.

There will be changes in the years to come. To help you play your part in shaping them into progress, keep in touch with the news. Be informed.

NATIONAL CHEESE WEEK NOVEMBER 7 TO 12
 Cheese is a concentrated form of milk, because one pound of cheese represents one gallon (about 12 pounds) of milk. Cheese is thus rich in fat and protein, and is one of the best muscle and body builders for girls and boys.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strang
 Director of The Grain Testing Plant
 The whole world has been a witness to our escape from a devastating war. Had war occurred millions of lives would have been lost, and billions of dollars worth of property would have been destroyed. The danger came because of the determination of Germany to acquire new lands.
 Some people consider that the German and one can add to this the Italian and Japanese motives are those of unvarnished aggression, of a love for war.

A study of Hitler's books and speeches, however, and of matters underlying worldwide economy, convinces me, at least, that the real motive actuating the aggression of Germany, Italy and Japan is simply that of a desire to secure the essential foodstuffs and raw materials necessary for the welfare of their people, and which products today are denied to them, in the quantities they need, by the high tariff policies of the democratic countries of the world.
 The way to satisfy Germany and the other "have-not" countries, and so to avoid war in the future, in my humble opinion is simple. It is to reduce existing high tariffs, and so permit the exchange of more raw materials and foodstuffs of the farmers for more of the goods and commodities of the world's industrial workers.

THE SPORTS LEDGER

Seabiscuit trims War Admiral—
 Piloted by George Woolf of Cardston, Seabiscuit, the raggs to riches son of Hardsack, romped in an easy three lengths ahead of the famed War Admiral on Tuesday, and clipped a one fifth second from the former mark for 1 and 3/4 miles. In less than two minutes, the "Beast," who sold for $8,000 won $15,000 and boosted his total winnings to over $340,000.

With Bill Stark and Ben Eustace in high place, Calgary is leading in the tennis ranks. Out of 16 Provincial players, Calgary is supplying 11. Play-offs are in Lethbridge.

Local cutters will be getting under way next Wednesday when they meet in the Town Hall.

Saturday the flint of two Western playoffs will see Bronks battling against Blue Bombers. Cronin's team are all hooked up and they look for an early lead, but a stiff fight all through.

WINS EMPIRE PRIZE

The Calgary Brewing and Malting Co. Wednesday won the Championship and medal for best bottled beer, and stout against 39 firms in the Empire Section, London, England.

GOOD ROADS GIVE DIRECT RESULTS

Just what tourist business means to this country was emphasized recently by L. L. Dolan, of Ottawa, director of the Canadian travel bureau, when addressing members of the Alberta Motor Association, long an ardent champion of better roads and bigger tourist trade.

In 1925, said Mr. Dolan, the tourist visitors to Canada consumed 4,000,000 pounds of butter, 1.5 million pounds of meat, 4 million dozen eggs, besides other farm products in like proportion.

These figures justify every effort being made to bring greater tourist traffic to Alberta, benefitting the farmers and other primary producers in particular, say officials of the A.M.A.
